- 3:19 The natural man and the saint
- 4:11–12 Retaining a remission of sins
- 5:2–7 The mighty change · taking Christ's name
- 14:1–12 Isaiah 53, quoted whole
- 15:1–9 Christ as the Father and the Son
- 18:8–10 The baptismal covenant
- 27:24–28 Born again
- 29:26–27 The voice of the people

TWO BONDAGES, PAIRED

	Limhi's people	Alma's people
held by	the Lamanites (19:15)	Amulon and the Lamanites (24:8–9)
first response	battle, three times (21:6–12)	prayer in their hearts (24:12)
what changes	they are humbled (21:14)	their burdens are made light (24:15)
release	guards made drunk (22:7–10)	a deep sleep on the taskmasters (24:19)
arrival	Zarahemla (22:13)	Zarahemla (24:25)

Force against faith. Both reach Zarahemla, by opposite roads.

SEVEN DATES TO ANCHOR IT

- ~200 BC Zeniff leaves Zarahemla (9:3)
- ~148 BC Abinadi burned; Alma believes (17:20)
- 124 BC Benjamin's address at the temple (6:4)
- 121 BC Ammon finds Limhi (7:1)
- ~120 BC Three peoples united (25:4)
- ~100 BC The angel stops Alma the Younger (27:11)
- 91 BC Mosiah dies; reign of judges begins (29:46)

124 and 91 BC are counted in the text from Lehi's departure; 121 is three years after 124 (7:1). The rest are approximate.

MEMORY HOOKS

- Three peoples, two flashbacks, one gathering.
- Chapter 7 spoils the ending: when Ammon finds Limhi, all of 9–22 has already happened.
- Two bondages are paired on purpose — Limhi's (21) and Alma's (24): force against faith.
- Abinadi converts one man, and that man's line keeps the record for almost five centuries.
- Mosiah opens with a king teaching his sons and closes by abolishing kings.
